

Crystals & Health

Saturday, October 3

9:30a.m. -4 p.m.

An introduction to using crystals to enhance personal energy, support good health, and to act as an assistant in complementary healing.

This workshop will provide hands on training in the basic use of quartz and other crystals to improve personal energy flow, ease pain, and support healing in ones self and others. It does not require any previous experience in any form of healing work, just the willingness to allow your energy to merge with that of the crystals.
